

MORS Education and Professional Development Colloquium

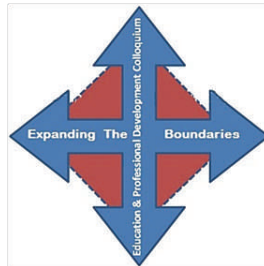

11-12 April 2012 | United States Military Academy, West Point, NY | Attendance is FREE for All

A formative and free opportunity for all aspiring operations research analysts.

For over a decade the MORS Education and Professional Development (EPD) Colloquium has brought together students, academics and professionals from the OR community to meet, share and learn about current trends in OR education and professional development, as well as new research to emerge from OR programs at the academies, universities and colleges.

The Colloquium helps prepare the next generation of national security analysts for the challenges of the profession, an important responsibility which depends on the guidance of experienced analysts. Whether you are a student, faculty or seasoned OR professional, register to attend and participate in the continued growth of the profession.

Find out more: The 2012 EPD Colloquium has space for up to 90 people. We are reserving 60 spaces for students. For more information call MORS at 703-933-9070 or contact the EPD Committee Chair, Dr. Julie Seton at julie@indentus.com. To register, visit www.mors.org.

Two days of opportunities for learning and growth.

- Richard E. Rosenthal Student Competition – A Quick Turn Analytical Problem Competition in which intercollegiate teams compete by analyzing complex National Security issues.
- Student Academic Work Poster Competition – Students prepare visual presentation of their project work and answer questions “on their feet”.
- Young Analyst Panel discussion – Newly employed analysts talk about their journey from academia to industry or government service.
- Speed Mentoring Sessions – Senior analysts and MORS Sponsors serve as mentors to young analysts and students in quick round-robin format.
- MORS Programs presentations for students and young analysts.
- Academia-Industry-Government discussion of desired skills sets and academic outcomes.
- Software Utilization across OR and OR-related curricula – discussion amongst academic advisors, professors.